Presbyterian Peace and Global Witness Offering

The Presbyterian Peace and Global Witness Offering is scheduled to be received in our local churches on World Communion Sunday (Oct. 2). The following weekend will shall come together at the our Presbytery Meeting in Fairbanks. The theme of our Presbytery meeting is centered around Peace Making; in our World, our communities, our homes and within ourselves. We have a special guest, Mr. David LaMotte, joining us to lead us towards being intentional in Peace Making and Peace Keeping.

We are asking that each church bring their local peace making offerings received on World Communion Sunday to Presbytery and offered up during our (Friday Night) worship service (minus 25% for local use). The vision is that we come together, bonded in the Holy Spirit, answering God's Call to serve and to do and that collectively we can make a difference. From Climate work in the environment to Justice work in our inner cities, from rural and remote ministries to world conflict zones, the Presbyterian Church has been called by God to meet the needs in the small ways and the great ways as God's servant people.

Through the collective body of Jesus Christ at work in our Presbytery, the local churches we represent, and through support of our denomination's peace work around the world, let us take extra pause this year to consider the best use of our gifts, our resources and the impact we Christians can have in our world and communities when we are open to being filled by the Holy Spirit.

Come prepared with an open heart, ready to be inspired, and bringing our gifts before the Lord as one people.
